

PATRICK FEDEWA

SENIOR ARCHITECTURAL DESIGNER

EDUCATION

Master of Architecture,
Illinois Institute of Technology
Bachelor of Science in Architecture,
Lawrence Technological University

Pat provides focused leadership in designing and producing various healthcare and manufacturing-related projects at Eckenhoff Saunders. He has experience in the development of building exteriors, including massing, proportion, wall assembly, technical design, and coordination with structural and other building systems. Well-versed in Revit and 3-Dimensional CAD technology, Pat has developed fully detailed exterior and interior renderings, including design alternatives, site plans, and related animations.

Before joining Eckenhoff Saunders, Pat spent six years at Pratt Design Studio as a project architect, leading the team to produce contract documents. He worked closely with MEP and other vital consultants, focusing on exceptional responsiveness to the client. Pat also developed life safety plans to include building code research and interpretation, directly interfacing with the building department officials, and coordinating all state agencies' responses on each project.
