Kent is experienced in designing and constructing healthcare spaces, including imaging, cancer care, surgery, and other outpatient-related medical clinics and offices. His recent project experience includes multiple medical office buildings for Duly Health and Care, UChicago Medicine, Rush University Medical Center, and Edward Elmhurst Health.

His background is rounded out by work in other markets such as education and distribution facilities. With experience as a project manager on more than 22 distinct medical suites for Duly Health and Care, he is sensitive to the re-occurring circumstances important to healthcare providers, including budget expectations and scheduling.
